

Jane Goldberg, Ph.D. is a Doctor of Transformational Psychology, a licensed Marriage, Family and Child Therapist, and Registered Expressive Arts Therapist. Dr. Goldberg has been leading training programs, college seminars and group workshops, locally, nationally, and internationally for over 24 years.

From 1991 through 1998, Dr. Goldberg was the Creator/Director of the Post Masters Certificate Program in Expressive Arts Therapy at the University for Humanistic Studies in San Diego. In April 1999 she became the Director of the newly state approved M.A. & Ph.D. Programs in Expressive Arts Therapy at the San Diego University of Integrative Studies.

As a psychotherapist in private practice, Jane has also worked in psychiatric hospitals, residential treatment facilities, local high schools, and battered women's shelters. Her advanced training also includes memory retrieval and regression therapy. In addition she is on staff as the Art Therapist at the Orange County Pain and Wellness Center.

As an artist and a student of Jewish Renewal & Native American Spirituality, Jane continues to define and deepen her connection to the creative spirit, which lives in us all.

*"Life is either a daring adventure or nothing."
Helen Keller*

Jane Goldberg, Ph.D.
2033 Port Bristol Circle
Newport Beach, CA 92660

The Expressive Arts Training Institute

Presents

The Professional Training in Expressive Arts Therapy

*Seattle,
Washington
2011/2012*

with

Jane Goldberg, Ph.D.
Psychotherapist/Educator/Trainer
Registered Expressive Arts Therapist

www.ExpressiveArtsTraining.com